How Is Getting A Free Car Possible?

This is not a scam. In fact, it's known as advertising. Many big companies such as HBO, Microsoft and Primeco are providing the public with free cars as an effective means of advertising. When you think about it, they are getting real values for their advertising dollars as a car ad is a mobile ad that reaches out to more people compared to a still ad or billboard. People will be curious about the ad decorated car, hence creating a deep brand impression. Now you're beginning to see the whole picture.

How do this work? Well, you're usually given a brand new, fairly expensive car (no advertiser wants to be seen on a lousy car) OR you may be given $400 – $500 in cash compensation if you already own a car. This money can usually cover your car installment, with some leftover for car washing or just plain profit. Surely, your car must be in a good shape to be picked if you plan to use it for this program.

Right now you may be hesitating whether you want to be driving around in a car covered in ads. Will it appear dodgy and lame? Will you get funny stares from people on the street? As a matter of fact, many of our clients have expressed their compliment on the professionally blend-in ads. Just like you, advertisers want to appear cool and happening. After all, the whole point is to appeal to the general public, not the other way round. And if you're worried about stick-on ads damaging your own car, rest assure that the ad wrap used are only temporary and can be removed without leaving a mark or have any adverse effects on your paint jobs.. If anything, these ad wraps may even protect your car body from scratches and peelings.

Our advertisers are great to work with especially if you have a car loan that span 2-4 years. These companies will enter into a contract with you to continuously reimburse you for 2-4 years, which is the average loan duration for a car anyway. In many cases, this amount of money is more than enough to cover the car loan, leaving you excess cash every month. You'll have the option to sign a new contract to continue pocketing $400-500 a month even after your car is paid off, if you so choose.

This is how the flow goes. Third party advertising companies will propose this concept to big corporations (prospective advertisers). Those big corporations love the ideas, and agree to advertise. The advertising companies will take care of coming up with the cool ads and they'll need cool drivers like you to actually drive the cars. During this process, advertising companies get a cut out of each car ad they churned out. As for you, you'll get to drive a fabulous and cool car for free! It really is a win-win-win situation for everyone ;)

Let's not forget that this is a relatively new concept in the market, which is why the potential is huge and untapped. This is also where our guidance will be crucial to your venture. To give our valuable customers (that's you) an edge over the rest in this sweet deal, we have designed a Free Car Location Tool, a premier value-added tool together with this report. This powerful tool literally takes away the hassle of hunting for a free car program near you. Be the first to discover new programs, while getting direct, online access to apply for programs. This is one piece of resources that you can't do without if you seriously want to have a free car.

But wait! We know how you are very excited to use the Free Car Location Tool and get started right away, but do not submit an application without following our techniques. The Free Car Location Tool is only one part of the whole system. It usually gives you at least 10 of the prospective advertisers near you. Applying for all 10 of these programs will increase your chance of being picked, but let's not forget that the quality of your application makes all the difference between success and failure. Which is why you really ought to read the rest of this report before jumping in.

Expediting the Free Car Process

In this section, we have done all the homework to let you know exactly what advertising companies are looking for, how they work and what to tell them in your application for best results. Note that the average process takes anywhere from 3-6 months. With our techniques aimed at 'getting their attention', people have been getting calls in just 3 months. In fact, one of our customers is contacted and delivered a car within a week, a case of being at the right place at the right time (with the right application, of course).

When you submit your application, your data is being stored along with others until they are evaluated for suitability for a certain project. Things like demographic, driving habits and location are assessed before selected drivers are contacted. So don't despair if you do not receive any response initially. The response rate relies heavily on timing, so just bear with it and don't give up.

What do you do when you still do not get any reply from those companies, say, after several months? A good way to check out is to pick up the phone and contact them directly. You can call and politely inquire about your application status. Remember not to sound too demanding and rude or your application may never make it to the consideration list. You don't want to take any chance. You may want to tell them that you truly think this is an awesome program and you can't wait to be a part of it. If this person on the other end of the phone likes you, he or she may even give you some insider pointers to help you out. Be nice, be patient, follow the tips we give you and you should be fine.

We do intend to warn you to not over-exercise your enquiries. Imagine being harassed by an applicant a few times a week! The right frequency is once a month. Since you'll be applying with at least 10 companies, it is wise to make a list and keep tab of your follow up so you do not come across as pesky or annoying. Write them down on your notebook and keep track of the dates you perform those routine enquiries.

As highlighted earlier, you'll want to apply for all the offers that are found by the Free Car Locator to increase your chances. Will that mean a lot of forms to be filled out? You bet. This may be repetitious, but it isn't hard. Don't be tempted to cut corners and fill in your details half-heartedly. After all, what is filling in some forms when you can get a free car?

Special question you'll want to pay attention to is "What are the major roads you travel frequently?" Obviously, you'll want to include busy roads in your area that can yield major exposure. If you work in a bustling city in the heart of the state, spell it out as detailed as possible. If you are required to complete a second set of forms when you are shortlisted, really zoom in on this point. Being invited to participate in an interview session is a good sign, so make sure you don't shy away. Just remember to see what is the motivation behind each question and devise your answers accordingly.

For example if they ask about where you usually park your car, your answer should reflect somewhere visible to the public. Let's say you usually park in front of your office block, instead of parking in the parking lot. As for your home, you may want to mention that you don't park inside the garage as your spouse's car / teenage kid's band practice is taking up the space etc. You get the point. If your home or office is facing high traffic roads, don't miss the opportunity to emphasize that fact. Now that you know what these companies are looking for, you can start making a list of all the aspects of your home, commute path and office location that would add value to their cause. Give them what they want, and they'll give you what you want in return.

You can be a little dramatic but DO NOT LIE. Once you have planted a seed of distrust in your interviewer, marks will be deducted regardless of how well you answer subsequently. Rehearse what you intend to say, and don't give false details that are too good to be true. You don't know when a discrepancy will surface if you lie. Telling different companies different stories is another big no-no that could backfire since you may not be able to keep track of all the story versions.

In the event of being asked about your driving record, be honest even though it's less than perfect. Genuine answers deserve extra points, even when it's not exactly right. Plus, they would have their means of finding out so honesty is really the best policy in this department. Put all these techniques to work and you'll be one of those that got their attention.

What does it takes to score this job? If you fancy driving 6-8 hours a day for 5-6 times a week, you're in. Like we mentioned earlier, this is in fact a full time job. If you want, you can go on auto cruise into the sunset with no worries, no bosses to answer to, no clients to suck up to and no paperwork to complete. or save the world. It is up to you to weigh the options should you want to pursue this as a career move.

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the feedbacks from those who are already involved in the Free Car Programs?

Great questions! Our clients are ecstatic to learn that they have been approved when they finally get that phone call informing them to collect their new car. Most of them feel that it is a privilege for them to be offered brand new cars that they do not have to pay for. The best things in life are free, so they say.

Will the car wraps interfere with vision?

Although some car wraps cover the window parts, it is not visible from inside the car. In most cases, they appear like a tint, further saving you the money necessary for car tinting. On top of that, the prospect of getting to drive a free car far outweighs anything else.

Can I use the reimbursement programs with car leases?

Yes, provided this is the car you are going to use in the program. Reimbursement programs can work with leased cars.

How much time does it take for the whole process to take place?

Generally speaking this can be as little as a few days to as long as a few months. As a rule of thumb, these companies need to accumulate certain volume of drivers' databases before they can get a program rolling. In other words, it is just a matter of timing for you.

Is it possible to participate in this program using my own car?

Absolutely. When you use your own car, you will be reimbursed with cash payment to cover your car loan. Usually, advertising companies will want cars that are under 5 years of age in order to maintain good condition and clean appearance. Therefore, if you are planning to escape from paying for your car installment, this could be a viable option.

Do I have to meet an age requirement to join?

This requirement could vary from one company to another. Usually, the minimum age should be either 18 or 21 years old across various companies.

Do I use my own auto insurance?

It depends on your arrangement with the company. If you are using your own vehicle, most likely you are required to use your own insurance. On the other hand, if you are given a car by the company, you will probably be required to use their own car insurance program.

Who pay for car repairs?

Again, this depends on your situation. If you are the owner of the car, then you are also responsible for any maintenance costs. Similarly, if the car was given to you by the company, it usually comes together with a maintenance agreement stipulating the sponsor as the party responsible to pay for repairs.

What if I got into a car accident?

Get in touch with the sponsor immediately. They will assist you to get back on the road again.

What happens if the car is broken into or is stolen?

Contact the sponsor as soon as possible. They would be able to advise you on further actions.

How long has these programs been around?

This is a new concept so most of the companies are only a few years old. Since not many people do not know about this yet, being shortlisted should not be hard if only you know the right approach.
